Jan 20, 2022 The most common type of stereoscopic 3D is often produced through the use of two related digital cameras. The result is that they make two "virtual images" or "stereoscopic pair" that are displayed on the screen. They can be seen as two screens placed one over the other and the stereoscopic effect is felt when the eyes are moved. This type of stereoscopic 3D is also called a "panoramic 3D effect" or "2D 3D".

Q: Standard Legend for Highcharts with a Variable Column Chart I am creating a column chart with some standard columns with a legend and I want the legend to appear before the chart. I would like to be able to dynamically add or remove some of the columns from the chart depending on user input. Here is a basic example of what I am working with. Here are some of my attempts. I am not able to get the legend to appear before the chart as the legend disappears before the chart is drawn. I am not sure what would be the best way to accomplish this. A: The problem is that highstock isn't drawing the chart before the legend. It's waiting until the end to do so. What you can do however is make the legend appear above the chart. For example, if you add a legend to the graph's container (instead of the chart itself), it will render behind the chart. Try this: chart: { type: 'column', height: 500, marginRight: 130, events: { load: function() { var legend = this.container.querySelector('#legend'); if (legend) { legend.style.position = 'absolute'; legend.style.zIndex = 100; } } } }
